American Red Cross Extends Contract

18 March 2008

ITL's Innovative Products Division announces a two year contract extension for a range of its innovative products with its long standing customer the American Red Cross (ARC).

"We are very pleased to continue our long-term relationship which started in 1999 with the world's premier blood collection agency the American Red Cross. ITL has supplied the American Red Cross with an increasing number of innovative safety solutions for its blood collection and laboratory business," said ITL CEO Bill Mobbs.

This is the second major re-signing of ITL's Innovative Product customers this year and follows the HemaQuebec extension for a further 3 + 1 years.
